What are cookies?

A “cookie” is a small text file generated by some websites on the user’s computer when he/she accesses a specific website, with the purpose of storing and transferring information. The cookies are sent by a web server (which is the computer on which the website visited is being run) to the user’s browser (Internet Explorer, Edge, Mozilla Firefox, Google Chrome, etc.) and saved on his/her computer; they are therefore sent back to the website at next visits. Usually they are saved directly on the browser used for browsing.

The same website that transferred them can subsequently read and save the cookies to obtain information of different types or technical type, information on the operation and browsing of the website (to remember actions, preferences, and displaying settings so that they should not be entered again for new sessions), for aggregated statics, and could also use first party or third party commercial type profiling cookies. From his/her browser the user can set his/her privacy preferences at anytime choosing not to save the cookies, delete them after every visit, or when the browser will be closed, or accept exclusively the cookies from this website and not the third party ones.

How to disable and manage cookies in the main browsers:

Each user can disable the cookies through the software used to access Internet (so called “browser”). Therefore, you should check your browser configuration with reference to the cookies, and set them according to your preferences, keeping into account that to be able to use some services it could be necessary to enable your browser to accept cookies (in this case you will be duly informed).

For the personal data processing that, prior your consent, third party companies not known to GRUPPO MATI srl could carry out through the cookies, you can customise your choices also through the service available at the following link: www.youronlinechoices.com

Types of cookies

Activities strictly necessary for the operation – temporary or session cookies.

There are some cookies that are necessary for the website operation, since they are aimed at transferring communications through an electronic communication network, that is, to provide a service expressly requested by the user. In addition, this website uses cookies to provide the service of saving the user's session and to carry out other activities strictly necessary to its operation, for example the one related to the distribution of traffic. The use of the so called session cookies (that are not stored permanently on the user's computer and disappear when the browser is closed) is strictly limited to the transmission of session identifiers (constituted by casual numbers generated by the server) necessary to allow safe and efficient browsing of the website.

Persistent cookies

They are text files generated by the websites visited and are stored on the user's computer even after exiting the website. The persistent cookies used have different functions: they allow saving some information (such as passwords) or customising the pages browsed by the user.
